

Really Dirty Socks

When my socks gits too dirty
I dunks em in the drink,
'N hangs em out ta dry
Above the kitchen sink.
I guards em with a swatter
(They draws a lotta flies),
It serves a double purpose;
A lotta critters dies.

But when they're really filthy
I dunks em in the lou;
I holds em by the binding
'N flush a time or two.
I pulls em from the potty
'N wrings out all the goo,
I dries em by the furnace,
'N they's as good as new.
