

Teardrops

They may be streams of sorrow,
Or phantoms of deceit;
Or anger boiling over,
Still hissing from the heat;
Or rivulets condensing
outside the cup of joy;
But teardrops are the language
Our inner souls employ.

Bud Morris
9/27/2011?
www.BudMorris.net